Erik Wahl

Travels from: California

Fee Range: $15,001 - $20,000

Erik Wahl's success as a speaker and unique understanding of vision traces back to his training as an artist.

He holds a Bachelors degree from the University of San Diego where he studied both art and business. After first working in the business world and playing with his art, he now plays in the business world by working with his art.

He has founded The Wahl Group, a consulting firm specializing in helping organizations identify and implement breakthrough thinking to achieve extraordinary results. Erik's special blend of warmth, humor and experience helps audiences identify their unchallenged roadblocks to success. He is passionately committed to helping businesses explore new levels of vision and performance through creativity.

Using his amazing artistic skills as a vehicle, Erik is able to channel success strategies in a uniquely fresh and entertaining way. His painting seamlessly becomes a visual metaphor to the fabric of his message of creating a vision. At the dramatic conclusion of his program he turns the painting upside down to reveal a stunning portrait of lasting vision. His skill as an artist, a dynamic performer and a speaker will leave your audience with a message that is as memorable as it is impactful.
