Frank Miles

Travels from: California

Fee Range: $7,501 - $10,000

A professional variety comedian with numerous television and Las Vegas credits, Frank Miles died in a hang gliding accident and was revived by emergency room doctors. True courage - he came to realize - is not facing death in daredevil pursuits. True courage is facing life every day.

After a full recovery, Frank left one successful career and embarked on another. Using comic monologues, juggling, music and magic, he brought to life simple ideas that help shatter the self imposed limits of fear.

The response has been tremendous. Frank is now a sought after speaker-entertainer, and his keynote presentation "Laugh at Fear!" has been honored with laughter and standing ovations from crowds as large as 15,000 people.

Recently Frank brought his courageous attitude to an audition for America's Got Talent. Before a TV audience of ten to fifteen million people, he juggled three 500,000-volt stun guns and showed that no one can stop you from dreaming and taking a chance on that dream.
