

CAPITOL CITY SPEAKERS BUREAU

We help you thrill your audience!

---

Gary W. Moore

Travels from: Illinois

Fee Range: $2,500 - $5,000

---

Gary W. Moore is a dynamic speaker who motivates and inspires others to improve their communication with others and to believe in their own destinies. Originally a salesman and a musician, Gary has used his own unique life experience to become a successful entrepreneur in the business and literary world. In 2006, this multifaceted person accomplished two goals: winning the prestigious Sam Walton leadership award, and publishing Playing with the Enemy, a book about a personal family revelation that is inspiring others to overcome the greatest adversities in their own lives.

Imagine having just moved into a new neighborhood and having a neighbor knock on your door and making you feel at home. That's the kind of warmth and charm that Gary Moore brings to his speaking engagements. Gary is particularly good at weaving the needs of his customers into his presentation and he works hard to please his customers. A master communicator, Gary inspires others by sharing his own roadmap for success. And the key to that roadmap is communication.

A first-time author, Gary's best-selling book Playing with the Enemy, is currently being made into a film starring Oscar-winning talent. The film's cast includes Gary's son, Toby Moore, who will play Gary's father!

The book is about Gene Moore, a baseball prodigy who lost his dream of becoming a major league ballplayer to war and injury, but overcame heartbreak and adversity to become a successful businessman and father. Gary's father taught him so much but hid his baseball career from Gary until the day before he suddenly passed away from a heart attack. It is often said that we are the product of all of our experiences. Gary's honest portrayal of his father reminds us about the importance of communication.

Gary takes his central speaking topics of communication, character and creating your own destiny and uses these themes to fire up audiences throughout the country. On a regular basis, audiences refer to him as "a great speaker." Others rave about "his ability to communicate." Gary holds the attention of all types of audiences. With a best-selling book and now a movie about his family on the way, Gary is a role model for those who want to achieve their own personal goals.

Most Requested Programs...

- The Importance of Communication
- Creating Your Own Destiny
- Character is King
- The F.A.C.E. (Focus, Attitude, Commitment, Enthusiasm) of Your Organization