Fee Range: $10,001 - $15,000

Peter Ricchiuti is the assistant dean at Tulane University's A.B. Freeman School of Business, and his insight and humor have twice made him the School's top professor. After a successful career on Wall Street, Ricchiuti served for five years as the assistant state treasurer and chief investment officer for the State of Louisiana. There he skillfully managed the State's $3 billion-dollar investment portfolio and served on boards overseeing another $8 billion in retirement funds.

In 1993, Ricchiuti founded the Burkenroad Reports investment research program. The program involves his leading of a team of more than 130 Tulane business students as they seek out the investment "skinny" on undervalued stocks in four southern states. He and his program have been featured in the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times, and on CNN and CNBC.

Ricchiuti is a frequent contributor to several financial sources, including Family Money magazine and the Marketplace program heard on National Public Radio. He is a popular speaker at meetings and conference throughout the United States and in Europe. His unique presentation style puts him in front of a wide variety of audiences, and his clients have included National Football League, who hired him to teach investment workshops to the New Orleans Saints.
